This reflects a decrease as compared to the SG&A expenses of $28.5 million in the prior quarter and an increase compared to the SG&A expenses of $20.4 million in the comparable prior year period.

The decrease in SG&A costs as compared to the prior quarter was primarily due to lower bad debt expenses relating to a customer default, offset in part by higher marketing expenses and an increase in webstore sales and their corresponding credit card processing fees. The increase in SG&A as compared to the comparable prior year period was primarily due to an increase in webstore sales and their corresponding credit card processing fees, marketing expenses, and employee-related expenses.

Interest Expense and Other, net

This reflects a decrease as compared to the I&O expenses in the prior quarter of $11.4 million and a decrease as compared to the I&O expenses in the comparable prior year period of $18.9 million, respectively.

The decrease in I&O expenses as compared to the prior quarter was primarily due to foreign exchange gains in the third quarter of fiscal 2025 compared to foreign exchange losses in the prior quarter and lower interest expense driven by a decrease in borrowings. The decrease in I&O expenses, as compared to the comparable prior year period, was primarily due to lower interest expense driven by a decrease in borrowings and lower interest rates and foreign exchange gains in the third quarter of fiscal 2025 compared to foreign exchange losses in the comparable prior year period.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Information

To supplement our condensed consolidated financial results prepared under generally accepted accounting principles, or GAAP, we use non-GAAP measures of net income and earnings per diluted share that are adjusted to exclude certain costs, expenses and gains such as share-based compensation expense and the tax effects of these non-GAAP adjustments.

Reconciliations of the adjustments to GAAP results for the periods presented are provided above. In addition, an explanation of the ways in which management uses non-GAAP financial information to evaluate its business, the substance behind management's decision to use this non-GAAP financial information, material limitations associated with the use of non-GAAP financial information, the manner in which management compensates for those limitations, and the substantive reasons management believes that this non-GAAP financial information provides useful information to investors is included under the paragraphs below.

Usefulness of Non-GAAP Financial Information to Investors

We believe that the presentation of non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP earnings per diluted share provides important supplemental information regarding non-cash expenses, significant items that we believe are important to understanding our financial, and business trends relating to our financial condition and results of operations. Non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP earnings per diluted share are among the primary indicators used by management as a basis for planning and forecasting future periods and by management and our board of directors to determine whether our operating performance has met specified targets and thresholds. Management uses non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP earnings per diluted share when evaluating operating performance because it believes that the exclusion of the items described below, for which the amounts or timing may vary significantly depending upon the Company's activities and other factors, facilitates comparability of the Company's operating performance from period to period. We have chosen to provide this information to investors so they can analyze our operating results in the same way that management does and use this information in their assessment of our business and the valuation of our Company.

About our Non-GAAP Net Income and Non-GAAP Earnings per Diluted Share

We compute non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP earnings per diluted share by adjusting GAAP net income and GAAP earnings per diluted share to remove the impact of certain adjustments and the tax effect of those adjustments. Items excluded from net income are:

- Share-based compensation expense
- Tax effect of non-GAAP adjustments, applying the principles of ASC 740

These non-GAAP measures are not in accordance with, or an alternative to, GAAP and may be materially different from other non-GAAP measures, including similarly titled non-GAAP measures used by other companies. The presentation of this additional information should not be considered in isolation from, as a substitute for, or superior to, net income or earnings per diluted share prepared in accordance with GAAP. Non-GAAP financial measures have limitations in that they do not reflect certain items that may have a material impact upon our reported financial results.

For more information on the non-GAAP adjustments, please see the table captioned "Reconciliation of GAAP Net Income to non-GAAP Net Income" included in this press release.
